While repairing an engine
In auto shop;
All our subjects are designed
To challenge us.
A myriad of information
Is offered to us
So that we might pick and choose
That which will not only enable us
To pursue a vocation
But to experience a richer
And more varied life.

Board Plans For New Gym Facilities

Liberty's school Board, backbone of the school system, has been a dedicated group of men who gave their time to improve the educational standards of Liberty Union High School. Carrying out work which was both complex and difficult, the Board met on the second and fourth Thursdays of each month.

Some of the tasks of Liberty's Board of Trustees included approving and hiring new teachers, keeping up academic standards, and beginning the reconstruction planning of a new gymnasium facility to replace the old girls' gym which was torn down during the latter part of December 1967.

As elected representatives of the people, the board faced continuous responsibilities and made decisions which affected not only the present but also the future of Liberty.

Pausing in front of the crowded stands before coronation ceremonies at the Homecoming game, Mr. Boulding escorts Homecoming Queen Sandy Dal Porto to the field.

Superintendent Wayne Boulding

Superintendent Aids In New Gym Plans

To keep pace with the rapid expansion of Liberty, Superintendent Wayne Boulding carefully guided the school's growth by examining and reviewing new school courses and the adequacy of those previously offered. He also had the responsibility of interviewing all new faculty candidates.

As spokesman for Liberty, he familiarized the Board of Trustees with the school's needs and accomplishments. Having the responsibility of supervising Liberty's building program, Mr. Boulding played a major part in planning the construction of new gymnasium facilities and the decisions made by the Board concerning this matter.

Mr. Boulding has shown himself effective in guiding Liberty. He has established a reputation for understanding and solving problems and furthering the goals of the school, thus providing better education.

Busy Administrators Lead 1,000 Pupils

Beginning long before the first class bell rang, the administrators' day started revolving around a multitude of activities which kept the school functioning smoothly.

Mr. Lou Bronzan, principal, was responsible for supervising teachers, school curriculum, and student activities. Vice principal Gerald Clayburn handled truancy, misconduct, student discipline problems, and student absences. Mr. Vernon Noble, head counselor and vice principal, offered assistance to students with their problems and supervised the counselors.

Counselors Guide Student Decisions

Among the duties that kept the counselors busy were registration for classes, personal interviews with students, and contacts with employment offices for graduates. All aptitude and college test scores were handled by them. They took care of transfers, transcripts and references and also maintained files of most college catalogs.

New to the department this year was Mr. Eugene Hickey, who, with the other four counselors, provided information and understanding to the two-hundred students who sought counseling each week.

In the hall of the Counselors' office, Head Counselor Mr. Vernon Noble explains to Mr. David Kirby the mid-semester distribution of students enrolled in liberal arts classes.

Faculty Finds Time For Many Interests

Teachers this past year have been many things: rulers of the classroom, targets for practical jokes, and machines for instilling instant knowledge. But more than that, teachers have been friends who performed acts of kindness and showed understanding, love, and sympathy. They provided not only knowledge but also companionship, encouragement, and guidance for students. Always striving to be fair to all, teachers did their utmost to impart knowledge to their pupils.

Hobbies brought to light another side of Liberty's teachers. Their varied interests ranged from the usual hobbies of photography, fishing, boating or stamp collecting to those not so usual, the art of judo or collecting rare art works.

Gazing at a Lion game, Mr. Allan Jones waits for an opportunity to strike up the band. His music interests do not end with his classes but extend to the Stockton symphony in which he plays the trombone.

Displaying a statue from his collection of pre-Columbian artwork, crafts instructor Mr. Arthur Gonzales explains to his advanced class the background of the Latin American handicraft

Always prepared to snap an exciting shot, Mr. William Batze focuses his camera upon a fast moving play at the Albany football game

Library Checks Out Over 7,000 Books

Having a source from which to draw reference materials and a place in which to use them are necessities to the learning process. Liberty's library provided such services by housing numerous periodicals, encyclopedias, and over 7,400 publications in a proper atmosphere.

Besides having provided publications for information, the library has contained a world of fantasy and fiction for reading enjoyment.

Assisting students whenever possible were Mr. Walter Sharafanowich and Mr. Denis Smithson who added 456 new books to the library shelves this year.

Taped Lessons Aid Language Students

Chariot racing along the Appian Way, bullfighting in Mexico, and the bustling crowds of Paris came alive through the three foreign languages offered to Liberty students.

Cultural and classical studies of Latin grammar and structure challenged Latin students, while Spanish students acquired further knowledge of the language, customs, and traditions of the Spanish people. French classes continued their study in the language new to Liberty last year. Pupils were able to improve their pronunciation through the use of audio-lingual equipment.

English 4A Class Dramatizes Macbeth

Publicizing a school paper in journalism, expressing ideas in a rousing oration in public speaking, or becoming acquainted with classical literature were just three ways in which the English Department brought out the hidden talents of Liberty's students.

Novels, plays and classic literature were used to inspire students and stimulate thought. Seniors read classics and novels to prepare for college English courses. Juniors concentrated on modern novels and drawing ideas from these, expressed them in essays and term papers. The underclassmen attempted to get a fuller understanding of basic English and grammatical usage.

Each teacher participated in an all-school reading program by using specially selected materials as part of class instruction.

Practical usage of the language was stressed in journalism and drama classes in which ideas became reality.

Mr. Richard Hackett was welcomed to the English Department by the teaching staff.

Mr. De Parsia New Special Ed Teacher

Not all students progress at the same rate. For this reason the Special Education Program was offered. All courses were geared to the individual student's ability.

Mr. Peter Reimer specialized in the instruction of foreign-born, Spanish speaking students, while Mr. Kenneth Jacobson instructed those students who had left the regular scholastic program. New to the department was Mr. Frank De Parsia who came to Liberty from Knightsen Elementary and who taught the Special education classes.

512 Pupils Enroll In Math Courses

Mathematical accuracy, necessary in everyday living, was taught in courses of general math, Algebra I and II, geometry, and pre-calculus.

Acquiring basic fundamentals and usage of math were goals of those enrolled in general math.

Geometry students solved theorems through proofs which had specific reasons for each step.

Relations and functions of numbers played an important part of solving problems in algebra and pre-calculus courses, the more advanced studies of mathematics.

Learning to use the slide rule, Dave Coffman and Larry Wearin practice on an oversized model. The use of such equipment aids in the speed and accuracy of solving advanced math and science problems.

Fiery Experiments Help Prove Ideas

This is it!—the Space Age, the age in which scientific discoveries are projecting man into the future and unveiling answers to previously unsolvable problems.

Students chose from four science courses this year: general science, biology, chemistry, and physics. General and advanced students acquired new concepts and understanding of previous knowledge. In biology the students' attentions were drawn to the structure, function, and instincts of living organisms. Chemistry students observed varied and fascinating experiments from which theories were proven. For the more scientifically inclined students, physics provided an advanced course in the physical science category.

A fiery experiment performed by Mr. Dewel Morgan and assisted by chemistry student, Judy Scarfo, provides exciting proof to concepts introduced and developed in class. Most experiments however, are done by individual students

Overhead Projector Useful To Lecturers

Do we really know the people around us? During four years at Liberty, students traveled the world over and examined many countries. Freshmen explored the depths of cultures past, and orbited into future civilizations. Sophomore wayfarers journeyed highways learning the care and functions of automobiles. Juniors ventured into new territory with debates and discussions of state and national problems. Seniors trekked into a study of the levels of democratic government.

While studying the judicial branch of government, Greg Jacobs and Penny Ellis find the overhead projector useful in their presentation.

Population Growth Poses Problems

Population explosion! Where is man going to live; how will he be fed? These two critical questions face mankind and an answer must be found . . .

Liberty students were introduced to these problems in drafting and ag courses. Creativeness was used by drafting students while they planned beautiful as well as functional homes. With the LUHS farm at their disposal, ag students experimented with the new and improved methods of farming which will be needed to feed the growing world.

Art Student Wins Top County Award

In early fall, Warren Lazar captured the first place ribbon for Best of High School Art in the Contra Costa County Fair. His non-objective work made it three for three as Liberty students have won first place and over half of the awards offered in the last three years of competition.

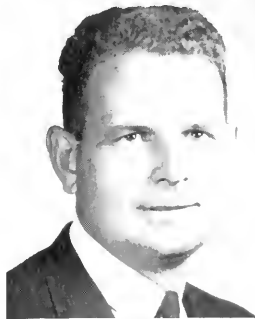

With the coming of winter, Chris Utterback entered his drawing in national competition with 15,000 other top high school artists. His work was one of several hundred selected for publication in the book Art of Young America.

During the spring, creative craft students, guided by Mr. Arthur Gonzales, new to Liberty this year, worked to complete their three dimensional projects for the Applied Arts Show. On May 27, art and craft students exhibited over 500 projects to the school and community in this climatic show.

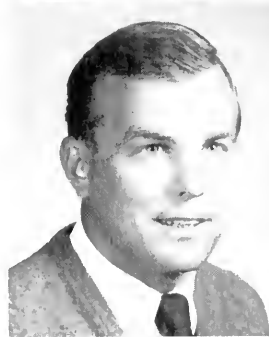

New Machinery In Two Shop Classes

Darting from between two buildings, a lone figure then crept stealthily across the campus and ducked into a dark room. Minutes later he emerged dressed in goggles, and what appeared to be a World War I flying coat. Was it the Red Baron? No, it was an LUHS student on route to a welding lesson in Mr. Frank Schmidt's metal shop.

Ready-to-use furniture was created with new machinery from raw lumber by wood shop students while basic skills were gained by general shop class.

From Care Of Autos To Driving Safety

Country living creates a need to know how to drive; Driver's Education classes can be applied to everyday living. Basic knowledge was gained through classroom study and discussion while practical application was learned in actual behind-the-wheel driving.

Not only learning to drive an automobile, but also learning what made the engine run was a part of Liberty's curriculum. Those enrolled in auto shop were taught how to tune as well as overhaul engines in the effort to make them run like new.

Practice Necessary In Business, Music

Both music and business students found manual dexterity to be a necessity for success. Electric typewriters hummed and jingled and mimeograph machines whirled and choked as commercial students prepared to make the business world turn. Would-be secretaries strove for word mastery, seeking to type 60 words per minute and take down in dictation 120 words per minute.

Away from the mainstream of Liberty traffic, singers and instrumentalists practiced their skills, and those interested in a detailed study of music were enrolled in music appreciation and harmony and theory classes so that they might gain useful background in musical history as well as a chance to compose music.

Maneuvering a hockey stick can sometimes create quite a traffic problem. Skills of hockey were included as part of the P.E. program for the junior and senior girls during early fall.

Gym Students Eager For New Facilities

Rigorous exercises and team sports which were offered during the daily gym classes challenged the physical strength and skills of the students.

Surplus energy was released by the boys through football, track sports, and wrestling, while the girls played hockey and soccer during the fall of the year. The remainder of the girls' year was spent in concentration on personal beauty and hygiene while waiting for the new gymnasium facilities to be completed.

Demonstrating wrestling skills, Randy Rico and George Cunha execute a hold during their third period P.E. class. Wrestling was offered as part of the P.E. program for all junior and senior boys.

Disregarding boxed products, cooking students utilized staples in raw form. From basic foods, they advanced until they were skilled at cooking complicated desserts and main dishes.

Providing nutritious meals for one thousand students and the faculty was the daily responsibility of the cafeteria staff. Governor Ronald Reagan gives a talk at a January U.P.I. luncheon explaining his administration's budget cuts. At the time of his speech he was considered as a possible G.O.P. presidential candidate.

War In Viet Nam, Election Top News

A year like no other: a space vehicle traveled and photographed Venus ... Human organ transplant operations performed in different corners of the globe reflected major breakthroughs in medicine ... The war in Viet Nam continued ... North Korea caused international shock waves when it forcibly took control of the U.S.S. Pueblo ... Grenoble, France, presented the tenth Winter Olympics while Mexico City prepared for the summer events ... Democrats and Republicans started campaigning in preparation for their head-on collision in the November Presidential election ... Racial tensions erupted into riots ... Anti-war demonstrators protested the draft ... California Governor Ronald Reagan's administration initiated large cuts in spending ... Fads of the year were micro-mini skirts, colored textured stockings, and square-toed shoes. 1967-68 was a year unique in time.

U.S. soldiers plunge through the Vietnam jungle and across a stream on another hazardous patrol in search of the elusive Viet Cong.

Delivering his State of the Union message, President Lyndon Baines Johnson appears before the television cameras in January.

25 Citizens Honored At Homecoming

Tension mounted during the Homecoming rally until the long awaited announcement was made: Sandy Dal Porto the 1967 Homecoming Queen. Sandy and her court were selected by a vote of students, faculty, and the team.

An added attraction at the rally was a contest for Homecoming King. Senior boys, chosen by rally squad, competed for the title. Each contender performed a stunt to exhibit his "hidden talent." At the end of the performances, Roy Ghiggeri, chosen by applause, was then presented with a cape and crown and was escorted off the floor by his aide in winning the title, Miss Rita Pirtle.

That evening the Homecoming parade, led by Grand Marshall Vernon Noble, wound its way around Brentwood, then onward to Ohmstede Field, and the game against John Swett.

During half-time, twenty-five members of the community were presented with lifetime passes to Ohmstede Field for the time, money, and effort they had put into the construction of the field. Following the presentations, the Liberty Marching Band presented a light-show, while the score board read Liberty 14, John Swett 0.

Escorted onto the field by Superintendent Wayne Boulding, Sandy Dal Porto was crowned by Coach Jack Ferrill. She also received an engraved trophy, a football autographed by the 1967 football team, and a dozen red roses.

The game ended with a final score of Liberty 28, John Swett 6. Finishing an exciting evening, the senior class sponsored the aftergame dance, featuring the "Tears of Blue."

Enthusiastically Sandy Dal Porto receives her trophy for Homecoming Queen, from co-captain Doug Adams. Sandy was chosen by a vote of the student body, faculty, and team.

Second five Homecoming contestants, Claudia Thomas, Judy McParland, Kay Anderson, Susan Pico, and Holliday Honegger smile as they are announced at Homecoming half-time show.

For Mr. Guido Lucchesi and twenty-four fellow citizens of the community, a strong handshake and a lifetime pass to Olmsted Field signified the gratitude of Liberty's students and staff.

Santa, Mrs. Arrive At Christmas Dance

Colorful lights and small evergreen trees decorated the student center in preparation for the start of the 1967 Christmas festivities. The senior class sponsored the annual Christmas Capers dance which was held on the evening of December 15. Adding music to the affair were the Entertainers.

A surprise awaited all those who didn't believe in Santa Claus, for who should have made a special trip down from the North Pole but jolly old Santa Claus and Mrs. Claus too! Clad in red and white, Don Lopez with his long white beard, and Valerie Rozenski officiated at the marriage booth and generally helped to create the gay atmosphere of the season.

High spirited music, accented with a touch of soul and hard-rock, is furnished by the "Entertainers" featuring lead vocalist Sharon Fisher and lead guitarist Ed Robley.

AFS Pinata Breaks Into Friendships

Any way that it's said, "Bueno!, Bon!, Good!" it all comes out the same. And this was the way the International Christmas turned out.

Sponsored by the American Field Service, the International Christmas combined Christmas traditions from around the world, and set them into one room. In this room was found food, friends, and lots of fun.

From all over the Bay Area foreign exchange students were invited to come and join in the festivities. Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus, Dan Duran and Sharon Kelly, were also invited; they arrived decked in the finest Christmas attire.

Sophomore Hop had the theme "Inside Alice" with giant flowers, looking glasses, mad-hatter hats, and a huge key hole entrance that decorated the activity center on January 27.

The Queen of Hearts couldn't make it, but the Cheshire Cat and the Showman were there and with them, their singers, guitars, and drums.

At ten o'clock the 'Tea-Party' learned that Merle Knight and Debbie Pippo had been chosen King and Queen of the Sophomore Hop.

Clashest Clothes Win Looks, Prizes

Shocking polka-dots, wild flowers, and gay colored stripes invaded Liberty on the California Scholarship Federation's Clash Day, March 1. Confusion and excitement bloomed as students and teachers went all out to make it a day to remember.

For the benefit of the judges, students paraded in a contest to see who had the clashiest attires, in the patio of the activity center during both lunch periods.

That evening the club sponsored a carnival in the gym. Such games as the cake walk, ring-a-coke, lollipop tree, ball bingo, teddy bear toss, and the glass booth were set up for everyone's entertainment.

At 8:30 during the carnival, winners of the clashiest clothes were announced: Elizabeth Thompson and Clyde Fairley.

Putting the finishing touches on the balloon booth by taping up a sign are Jo Prewett and Laura Borbon.

Causing eyes to water with their clothing ensembles are Mary Casey, Jo Prewett, Sharon Winter, Elizabeth Thompson (winner of clashiest outfit contest), and Gail Dallas

Clashy sign painters complete the Pitch-'til-You-Win sign, in the afternoon set-up for the carnival. Showing their skills are Lane Lewis, Holliday Honegger, Penny Ellis, and Gail Dallas.

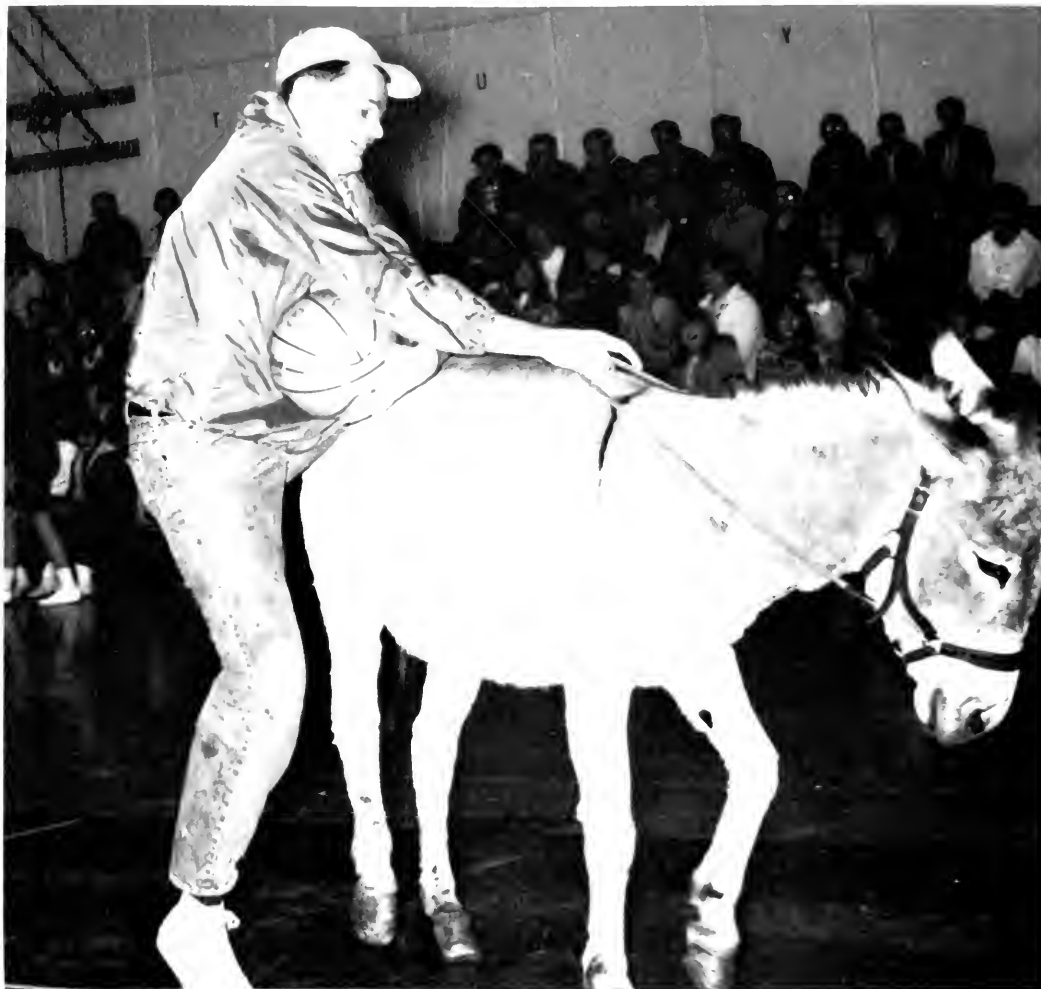

Aiming for prizes, while they test their skill at the shooting gallery during the evening carnival, are Jeannie Carlisle, Carol Jensen, and Lane Lewis.

Designed by Mariann Amund, the CSE Carnival publicity poster was seen all over the campus and community preceding Clash Day.

Donkey Basketball Won By 'Donkeys'

Help! Ouch! were cries of the participants of the Future Farmers of America's Donkey Basketball Game, March 12, in the Boys' Gym.

The two games were not only a test of man against man, but also of man against donkey! In the first game the Volunteer Fire Department challenged the Brentwood Police Department. After many falls and spills, the volunteers won by a score of 10-8. The second game was a contest between the F.F.A. and the faculty which ended in a victory for the faculty with a score of 12-8.

Wild Bill Batze rides again, or at least he tries. His vehicle was in no way responsible for the faculty's victory over the F.F.A.

There's more than one way to ride a donkey, and F.F.A. member Larry Wearin proves this in the Donkey Basketball game against the faculty.

Junior Prom Shows Oriental Paradise

This year's theme for the Junior Prom was "Shades of Oriental Blue". It was held on March 16. Oriental scenes, complete with water falls, Buddhist Temples, and Chinese scrolls transformed the activity center into a lovely Asian paradise.

Beautiful green gardens entranced couples entering the activity center. A Chinese pond, complete with bamboo and moss extended the garden out into the patio area.

Between fortune cookies and other refreshments, the "Back Door" provided musical entertainment.

Welcoming her date to the land of blue enchantment, Jeanette Giannini places a welcome lei on Randy Lowrie.

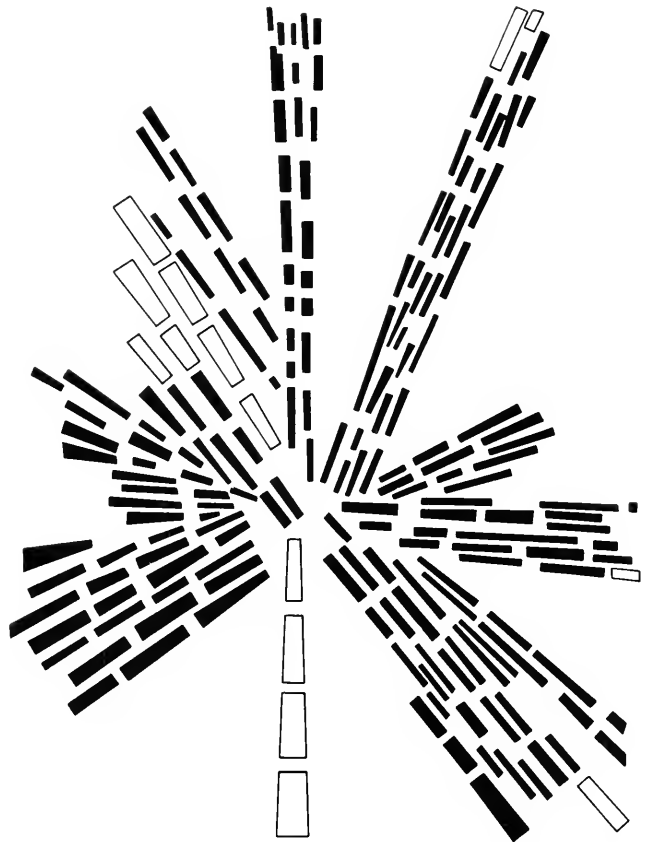

Dancing the boogaloo to the music of the "Back Door" from Santa Cruz are Mark Andersen and Leslie Cass.

Honegger Pounds President's Gavel

Government run by adolescents? In the 20th century, students are learning more and more about government processes. As the basis for a body is a skeleton, the basis for school government is a student council.

Composed of executive officers and representatives of each class and organization, Student Council convened once a month to co-ordinate student affairs by confirming charters, dates, and school projects.

Always on the lookout for new service projects and ideas beneficial to our school, the Council sent president John Honegger to the East Bay President's league which meets once a month.

This year marked the first year of the services of a corresponding secretary. Barbara Monroe assumed the correspondence duties of the recording secretary.

Future Teachers

In Initial Year

Commissioner of Cultural Affairs Geanie Freeman, Commissioner of Publicity Holliday Honegger, Commissioner of Justice Doug Adams, and Commissioner of Athletics Dave Coffman organize activities for the students of Liberty.

Although automation has replaced many occupations, it cannot fully take the place of the teacher. With the rapid population growth, our nation needs more qualified teachers.

Initial stages of the Future Teachers Club were started by interested students. Sponsored by Mr. Wally Davidson, students went before the California Teachers Association for guidance and support. Having received that support, Liberty's F.T.A. began its first year.

F.T.A. was designed as an organization interested in establishing a broader outlook on education. By attending conferences at Diablo Valley Junior College, students were introduced to the study requirements of a teacher. Members also participated in a Student Observer Program with the Brentwood Elementary School.

Scholastic Leaders Earn Gala Holiday

Marking the scholastic excellence of Liberty students, California Scholarship Federation proudly admitted 55 members, a record number, into its federation.

As a reward for achievement, on October 25 CSF members traveled to the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory at the University of California and then to San Francisco where they saw "To Sir, With Love" and dined at the Old Spaghetti Factory.

Engaging in student affairs, the club entered a decorated car "Incinerate the Indians" in the Homecoming parade.

CSF sponsored two major events this year: the carnival on March 1 and the Honor's Dinner on April 26. In addition the club initiated a pilot tutoring program for any Liberty student who wished outside assistance in school work.

Highest Bidders Purchase Slaves

Gleaming lights of ancient Rome are fading into the backdrop of history. In pursuit of a brighter view of Rome, the Latin Club sponsored on February 10 its banquet "All Roads Lead To Rome." A slave auction of new members was held while the play "Pandora's Magic Box" and Olympic Games provided unique entertainment.

Funds from the banquet and an after-game dance on February 16, featuring the Bering Strait, were used to help finance a trip to San Marino where club members attended the annual Junior Classical League Convention, March 22-23.

"Do I hear 50 denarii?" asks Roman citizen Gerry Allen as he auctions off slave Gary Cunha. Ken Halsey, next to be sold to the crowd, hovers in the background in fear.

With wine stained feet, Clyde Fairley, Steve Wolfe, and Susie Martinez "roll out the barrel" as well as the French Club's second place winner in the float competition of the Homecoming parade.

'Spirits' Run High With French Float

Promoting French culture and fluency of the French language was the goal of Liberty's French Club. Aided by Miss Marie Larrouy, exchange teacher, the club had many activities utilizing new and unique ideas.

Boasting 36 members, the organization entered its second year with a whirlwind of activity, beginning with an entry in the Homecoming parade float competition. Showing a true French spirit, participants stomped to a second place with their French wine cask.

Expanding the club's activities, members participated in the A.F.S. International Christmas where they experienced distinctive traditions of Christmas in France.

President Soite Guides Members

One, two, three—whack . . . and the gifts came tumbling down. The occasion? A pinata created by the Spanish Club. The time? December 13—International Christmas in the school's activity center. After breaking the pinata, Liberty students enjoyed Spanish cuisine prepared by the club's members.

Taking part in International Christmas was not the only activity of students interested in the Spanish language and customs. Members sponsored an aftergame dance in February, took a field trip in the spring to the town of Columbia to further their knowledge of Spanish culture, and culminated the year with a picnic-swim party in early June.

Club president, Mary Soite, was aided by other officers: Jeanie Carlisle, Vickie Mapes, and Cathy Machado in performing her duties.

Dorothee Jungen Exchange Student

Operation: Friendship. Dorothee Jungen, Swiss exchange student sponsored by the American Field Service, experienced the American way of life. Cultural exchanges were made which led to better understanding and friendships between Lions and Dorothee.

A.F.S. sponsored the second International Christmas at which exchange students from surrounding areas were invited. This festival gave students an opportunity to experience other cultures way of celebrating Christmas.

Calendar sales were another undertaking. A.F.S. Members sold calendars which listed the activities and birthdays of members of the community. Profits were given to the adult chapter so that another exchange student might be sponsored next year.

In May a swim-picnic ended the club's activities. At this meeting, new officers were installed and plans for next year were discussed.

Business Club In Second Year

In the fall former Business Club members, Peggy Yonemura, Aliee Mendiola Maesretti, Betty Calvert Striplin, Evelyn Douglas, and Evelyn McClelland, related to the organization their experiences in the business world since graduation. They presented information on how to be better prepared for a job, how to have a successful interview, and how to get along with the employer and fellow employees. Members also heard Mr. Scott Sherrill, Personnel Manager from DuPont Company, who explained the qualifications of an employee of DuPont.

In the spring, field trips to Healds Business College in Oakland and Diablo Valley Junior College in Pleasant Hill exposed members to two different business schools available to students upon graduation.

Service projects for the year included a paper-back drive for the servicemen in Vietnam, a basketball concession in January, and a cupcake sale in February.

Float Advertises 1968 Yearbook

Supporting a yearbook requires as much enthusiasm as creating one; thus, energies of the Yearbook Society were put to use. Members were not all from Annual Staff but included other Liberty students interested in helping in raising funds for the production and advertising the sale of the LION.

At Homecoming a float representing Yearbook Society and Annual Staff depicted a large replica of a yearbook which was created of fresh chrysanthemums.

Still instilled with the spirit of Homecoming week, the club sponsored the Albany football refreshment concession. Funds earned were donated to the 1968 LION yearbook.

The society ended its year with a swim party which honored members who donated their time to assist the Annual Staff.

Liberty Bell Staff Attends Conferences

Rushing to meet deadlines, covering news beats, or running to the print shop were never-ending tasks of the Liberty Bell Staff. The staff, consisted of Journalism I and II students, competed against one another for the best factual stories with the widest reader appeal. They worked to keep the student body informed of school functions and simultaneously provided entertaining articles.

The Liberty Bell contained student opinions, factual accounts of sports, social and club news, and humorous items. As a part of the development of journalism techniques, students attended conferences in neighboring cities with adviser Mr. William Batze.

Rushing to meet a deadline, Rachel Guerrero and Chris White work after school preparing layouts for the October issue of the Liberty Bell.

Hi-Risers Sponsor Auto Safety Checks

Is "dragging" in Fremont and in Vacaville, educational? Members of the Hi-Risers Club thought so. Although they did not enter into competition, these drag races provided members with an idea of the skill and handling that must go into such a sport.

While studying and working on custom-made car engines, members became more interested in auto mechanics. The club also provided the opportunity for better understanding of auto safety rules.

Members held safety checks on their cars and those of students outside the club, during class and on week-ends, under the direction of advisers Mr. Gerald Hardt and Mr. Richard Arch.

Candy Strippers Aid At Delta Memorial

Through field trips to Kaiser Foundation Hospital in Oakland and to Delta Memorial in Antioch, the Future Nurses Club learned more about the field of medicine. Field trips, lectures, and the experience of student training at Delta Memorial aided future "Florence Nightingales" in realizing the vital need for more people in the medical profession.

Those girls who qualified as candy-strippers worked at Delta Memorial on week-ends and holidays, so that they might have the experience of working with people in the hospital wards.

Organization participants also sponsored a toy and food drive for the less fortunate people at Christmas time.

FHA Holds Swim Party Initiation

Future Homemakers of America started the year off with a splash at a swim-party initiation meeting which took place at the swimming pool in October. Members also planned trips and topics for further meetings.

To understand the responsibilities that go along with a home, to learn to develop good family ties, and to impress upon members the importance of good behavior were the main goals of the FHA.

Homemakers sponsored a toy drive for needy children around Christmas. They also conducted an Easter egg hunt for the children of the community. In May the girls held their annual banquet at which they honored their graduating members.

Rehearsal. "You've got to put more FEELING in your lines!" "Memorize that scene." Rehearsal. "How are the props coming along?" Rehearsal. "Where's the prompter?" "That's your cue." Applause.

Long rehearsals and hours of building sets went into preparing for "Inner Willy," a three act comedy presented April 5 and 6 by Playmakers in the activity center. Directed by Mr. Robert Russell, the play contained a cast of eleven with Ken Hartgraves as Willy while Inner Willy was portrayed by Gary Trembley.

To finance the production, Playmakers sold cokes and hotdogs at the February 9 basketball game. A St. Patrick's Day dance on March 8 was another money-making project for Liberty's performers.

F F A Co-Winners With Float Entry

Parliamentary procedure was a key factor at each Future Farmers of America Club meeting. This year the club competed with surrounding F.F.A. clubs. The winners presented the most correct parliamentary procedure to follow in conducting a meeting. Liberty's F.F.A. team entered into regional competition, where they placed fourth, after defeating Livermore at sectional competition.

In October sponsoring their annual Barn Dance, F.F.A. members provided students with a source of relaxation and fun. Other fun-filled entertainment included the Donkey Basketball Game held in March and a mid-term surfers' dance.

Money earned from these two activities helped to send club members to exhibits and shows at the Cow Palace, Modesto Junior College, and to Cal Poly to view animal and plant entries.

In May the club honored their members' past accomplishments at the year end awards banquet.

Resounding voices of the A Cappella Choir filled the L.U.H.S. gymnasium with a concert at Christmas and during the spring. Additional concerts were held for the Brentwood Rotary while the Madrigal joined in for elementary school performances.

Clet Club held a cookie, cake and rally tag sale. Money earned went toward financing a trip to Cal-Berkeley for a music concert in the spring and in May a trip to a musical in San Francisco.

Band Booster Club Starts This Year

In the heat of the day and in the cold of the night, drums and trumpets could be heard echoing above the campus while Band III rehearsed its drills.

Sparkling music concerts arose above the excitement of Christmas and spring. Band III also performed at the State Music Festival, Byron Dam Dedication in September, Memorial Day Services in Brentwood, and the all Elementary Concert.

In its initial year the Band Boosters Club sold cards and buttons to student supporters. Funds from this drive were to be used to purchase new band uniforms and music supplies.

Before a fourth period Band III rehearsal, bassoon player Kenneth Halsey works to improve his style on "Egmont."

Girls Proudly Don Block 'L' Sweaters

Girls who earned enough credits through participation in G.A.A. activities obtained their Block "L" and became members of Girls' Block "L".

In order to have earned a letter it was necessary to attend and participate in most of the activities which were held on Tuesdays and Thursdays. It was also necessary to attend a number of playdays during which competitive sports activities were held with girls of Liberty and neighboring schools. Service credits must also have been earned. They may have been earned by helping supply refreshments for G.A.A. activities as well as activities sponsored by other Liberty organizations.

Boys Raise Funds With Fall Dance

It took long hours of practice and many nights of anxious waiting for a boy involved in varsity sports, who felt the satisfaction of each win and disappointment of each loss, to finally earn his Block "L". Every fellow competing in sports had a chance to be a part of Boys' Block "L" as well as a representative of Liberty.

Varied activities and services undertaken by the club illustrated the athletes' spirit and willingness to serve L.U.H.S. beyond their participation on the mat, field, or court. During the year members sponsored an after-game basketball dance and game concession. They also sponsored the trophies for wrestling, track, baseball, and swimming and coordinated the presentation of the football, basketball, and tennis awards.

In May the Block "L" held a party at the swimming pool, an event that was enjoyed by everyone involved.

Girls' Athletic Association strove to instill among the girls a strong interest in achieving physical fitness. It also worked to maintain and improve the relationship between club members of Liberty and other schools in the area.

Girls were offered various sports, which included swimming, archery, bowling, and volleyball.

Mr. Irresistible Day, a time when girls were not allowed to speak to boys, served to headline the club's Turnabout dance, where Mr. Irresistible was crowned at the April 19th dance.

Participation in various activities led to numerous awards which were presented during the Mother-daughter banquet in May.

Lions Chew Up Opponents In 8 Games

Anticipating a rough season, Lion gridsters began practice in August. Coaches Jack Ferrill, Jerry Miller, George Smylie, Captain Dave Coffman, and Co-captain Doug Adams guided the team to an 8-1 season, placing them second in the East Bay Athletic League. They were defeated only by the Amador Dons.

Bouncing back after this loss, Liberty dumped Livermore 21-13 by pairing a 67 yard run by quarterback Larry Enos with a strong defense. Late in the third quarter, Dave Coffman broke through the line, intercepted a pass and without breaking stride, lunged into the end zone.

Traveling to Granada, Liberty upset their hosts' homecoming by winning 20-14. Victory repeated itself at their own homecoming as Liberty scalped John Swett.

To climax the season and insure their second place in the league, the Lions skinned the Albany Cougars 38-6 on their home field.

Nine Lions Receive All-League Honors

Hard-charging defensive linemen prepare to take on Albany's offense in their final game. By winning this game, Liberty Lions clinched their hold on the league's second place.

All-league quarterback Larry Enos, number 10, is hit by a Granada defensive back after running 9 yards for a first down. Liberty's offense executed a punishing attack to roll up a 20-14 victory.

Eyes glued to the Amador game action Keith Lamport and captain Dave Collman watch as teammates try to get a drive started late in the game. Liberty suffered its only loss of the season by a score of 0 to 17.

High over the crowd at Ohmstede Field, instructor Dewel Morgan focuses on action of the 26 to 12 Liberty victory over Concord. Mr. Morgan films all of the Lion's home games.

Stopped abruptly, Granada's offensive back is tackled by F.B.A.I. All-league defenders Stuart Pratt number 63 and John Honegger number 30. The game ended with Lions upsetting their host's homecoming, 20 to 14.

Fearsome foursome, end Dennis Henderson, number 80, guard Bob Swicegood, number 64, center Dave Coffman, number 50, and fullback John Honegger, number 30, put the clamp on the John Swett halfback in the 28-6 Lion Homecoming victory

Football Players Receive Trophies

Efforts of the Lion gridsters were rewarded at the annual football banquet sponsored by the Brentwood Lions Club on December 4.

Don Mason of the San Francisco Giants, and Herman Urenda, former half for the Liberty Lions, University of Pacific, and the Oakland Raiders, were guest speakers for the night.

Receiving the varsity captain's award, most valuable player, and Lions Clubs' most valuable player trophies was Dave Coffman. He also was the recipient of the co-most valuable lineman as was Bill Chato. Larry Enos and John Honegger were the co-most valuable backs.

Frank Rosas received the junior varsity most valuable player award, while Rick Fortner was voted frosh most valuable player.

Bang! The final gun sounds. As Keith Dawson pulls the trigger, he signifies the end of the Liberty-Albany game, and also the end of the 1967 season

Award winners at football banquet are Rick Fortner, Frank Rosas, Bill Chato, Dave Coffman, John Honegger, and Larry Enos.

Lion Cubs Average 17 Points Per Game

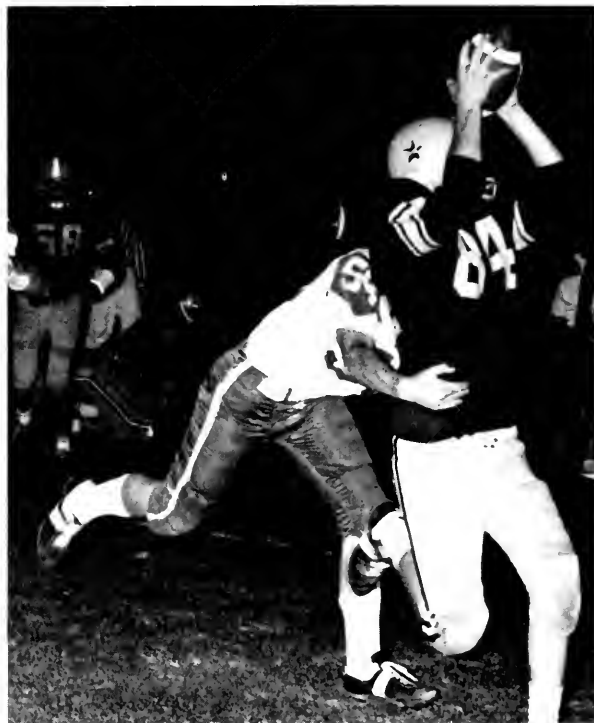

Third in East Bay Athletic League competition, junior varsity, coached by Bob Glenn and Carl Schwertfeger, finished the season with a 3-2-0 league and a 5-3-0 overall record.

In their first league game of the season, the Cubs lost to the Amador Dons on a quarterback roll out. In the last 18 seconds of the tilt, the Dons rushed to paydirt, winning 13-7.

Clashing next with Livermore, the j.v.'s won, 26-6. Steve Capozzo recovered an early fumble and from then on it was the Lions' game.

For an encore the junior varsity clobbered Granada, 53-0. They ended the season by sandwiching in a 14-0 loss to the John Swett Indians before overwhelming Albany 35-6.

Stopped dead in his tracks, as a pass is completed for a gain of 5 yards and a possible first down, Granada back, number 84, is tackled by halfback Dennis Stephens, number 59. The Lion Cubs dumped the Matadors, 53-0.

Seven Freshman On 1967 Tennis Team

Concentration on good form was stressed as the ten white suited members of the Lion tennis team prepared to meet their opponents. This was the third year of Liberty participation in this sport. The netmen consisted mainly of freshmen but included one sophomore, one junior, and one senior.

Under the guidance of Coach Dale Cozby and leadership of Captain and most valuable player Delmar Greenleaf, the team finished the league season with a record of 2 wins, both over John Swett, and 8 losses, thus placing fifth in the East Bay Athletic League.

Best Varsity Record In Twenty Years

Varsity basketball players achieved the best team record in the past twenty years. Experience and balance were the keys to the eagers' success. By combining these two assets, the club scored a fourteen win, eleven loss and no tie season record to finish third in the East Bay Athletic League.

Six seniors and four juniors furnished the raw material while Coach Jerry Miller supplied blueprints for the squad's maneuvers.

Captain Bill Chato was named to first string All-league, seniors Roy Ghiggeri and Greg Jacobs were named to second string, and John Honegger was awarded honorable mention. Chato, leading scorer, averaged thirteen points per game.

In tournament play Liberty placed third in Amador's tourney with two wins out of three contests. They finished fourth at the Rio Vista tournament with one win out of three.

Averaging forty-seven points per game, the cubs, placed three players in the top ten scorers in the league; Jim Honegger third with a 12.0 average, Mark Caves fifth with a 9.6 average, and captain Rick Fortner ninth with a 9.0 average.

Team Picks Franco As Most Valuable

Learning basic fundamentals was the job of the freshman basketball team. With spirit and determination they had a four win, seven loss, and no tie season's record.

Under the coaching of Mr. Robert Russell, the Lions averaged forty-four points per game. Leading the club in offensive stats was Blas Franco who scored a total of sixty-five points for an average of six points per game.

Freshmen players were victorious in their first game as well as their last game of the season. Starting the season off on the right foot, they dumped Pacifica 35-30 and they ended the season by defeating Albany 49-48.

Frosh eager Doug Toles arches a shot over a Granada player in a game held on Liberty's home court. The Lions' lost by a score of 56 to 51

Girls Attend Summer Camps, Clinics

Fading sounds of "On You Lions" and echoing cheers of "V-I-C-T-O-R-Y" were only brief reminders of the skill and precision upon which the Liberty Boosters worked long hours after school. Improving Lion spirit as well as sportsmanship was the goal of the boosters.

Songleaders, cheerleaders, and mascots were under the direction of Mrs. Pat Claywell. The majorettes were under the guidance of Mrs. Lenda Honegger.

Many songleaders and cheerleaders attended various summer camps and workshops. There the girls learned and improved routines and cheers.

Team Works To Best Third In Standings

Second semester heralded the beginning of baseball season. The first weeks were devoted to conditioning and acquiring fundamental skills while at the same time giving coaches an opportunity to judge boys and make early season cuts.

With six returning lettermen, the 1968 Lion varsity nine, under Coach Bob Glenn, hoped to surpass last year's seven win, nine loss record and the '67 squad's third place in East Bay Athletic League competition.

Compiling a seven win, eight loss record, the 1967 junior varsity team finished the season in third place in the league under the guidance of Coach Carl Schwertfeger. The 1968 team was composed mainly of freshmen.

Matos Sets Two Division Records

With only six returning lettermen, coaches Keith Dawson and Herb Scott were confronted with the problem of adding additional strength to the squad. Preparing for the season by starting training in early February, the Lions gained valuable experience.

"Four in a row" was the motto of the 1968 team as they strove to continue the Lion tradition of winning the East Bay Athletic League track championship. For the past three years Liberty has captured the League title.

In the 1967 season the squad compiled a six win, no loss, and no tie league record and a six win, four loss, and no tie over-all slate. Carlos Matos set two division records in the "B" class, 10.0 in the 100 yard dash and 49.9 in the 440 yard dash, when he and four other boys represented the school at North Coast Division finals.

New Swim Coach Guides Tankers

Seven o'clock morning practices, in addition to three-thirty to five o'clock after school sessions, were endured by Lion mermen in an effort to surpass last year's third place in the East Bay Athletic League.

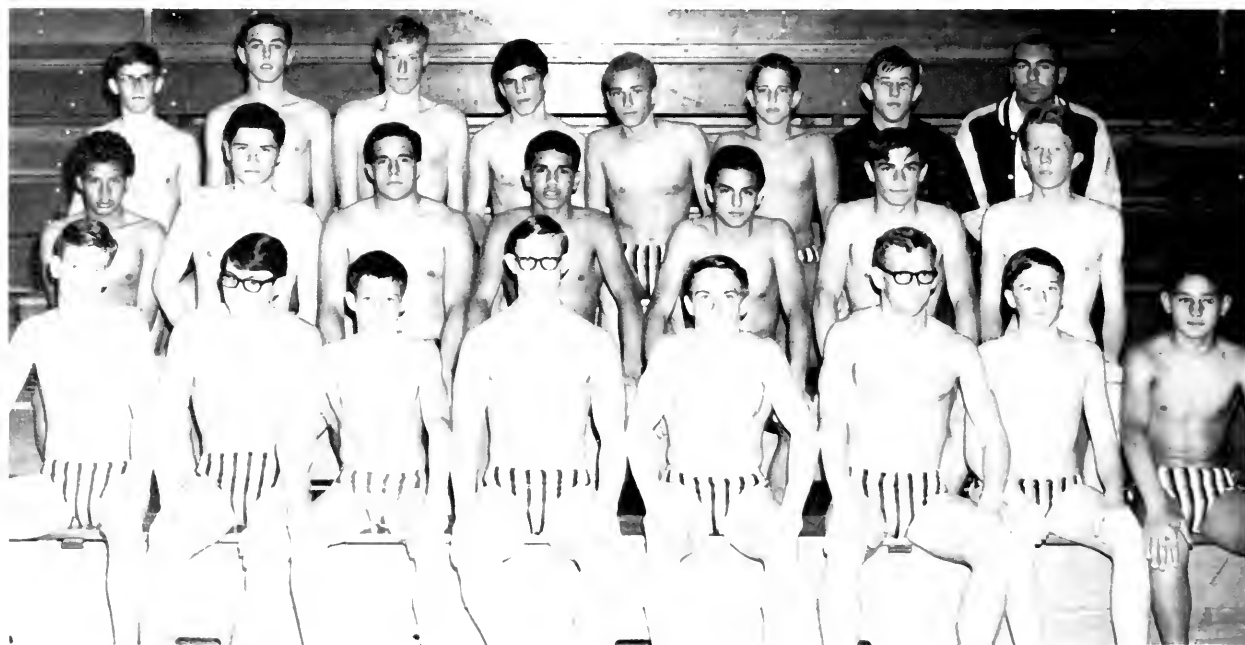

Varsity swimmers, after earning a five win, five loss 1967 season's record, place third in the decisive E.B.A.L. meet. J. V.'s had a one win, ten loss record and placed fourth in the league meet. Leading both squads through the season was Coach Jack Ferrill.

This year both varsity and junior varsity teams were under a new coach to Liberty, Mr. Jack England.

Physical Fitness Through Recreation

While a number of boys entered into the after school program for the purpose of competing with various schools, other boys as well as girls joined the program to have an outlet for excess physical energy. Some participated just for the fun and challenge which athletics offered.

Teachers and other interested adults in the community also involved themselves in Liberty's recreational program. Open to men and boys were such sports as basketball, wrestling, judo, and weight lifting, while girls were active in bowling, gymnastics and tennis.

Physical fitness did not stop with the end of the school year. The program was extended into the summer by offering interschool swimming competition.

Performing a Hane Goshi throw, Coach Jack Ferrill prepares his son, Sean, for a judo tournament. Coach Ferrill holds a black belt, earned this past year, while Sean has earned a purple belt.

Executing a forehand return during one of her interschool recreational matches is minor Penny Turner. Girls' tennis team members spent Saturday afternoons practicing.

Perfect balance and coordination are practiced by Nancy Mune as she performs a phase of her routine on the uneven parallel bars.

Demonstrating a take-down are George Von Merta and his opponent David Aiello. Junior and senior on-lookers help count points to determine the winner in this match.

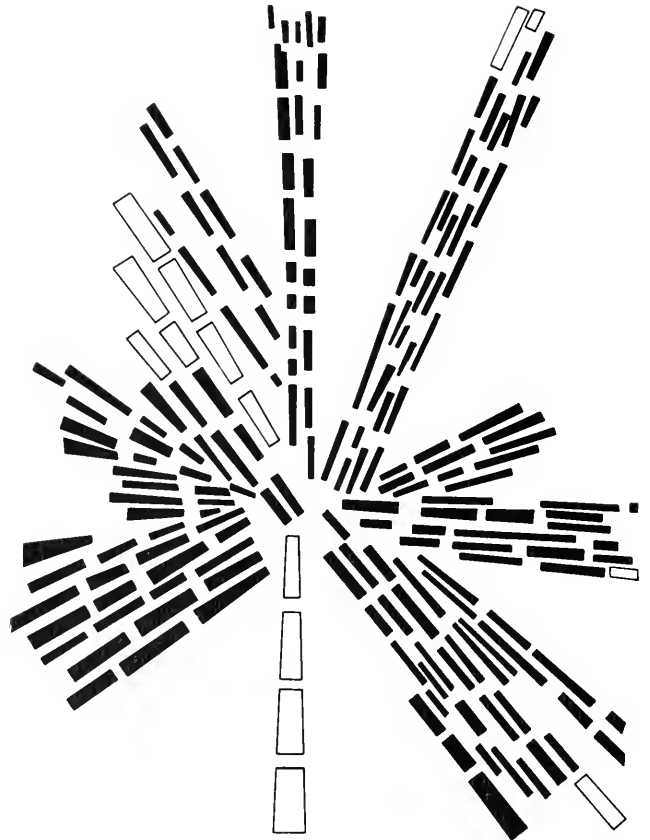

"Oops!" cries G.A.V. member Vickie Valentine as she drops her ball during a Thursday match at the Delta Bowling Alley.

Up in the air for the beginning of her trampoline routine is senior gymnastics team member Peggy Monroe.

Liberty High Registers 263 Freshmen

Freshmen

Everyone must start somewhere, and at Liberty that starting point is the ninth grade. When the first bell rang on September 6, 1967, 263 freshmen entered into the Lion kingdom.

Under the guidance of Mr. Harold Child and Mrs. Carol Russell, class advisers, the freshmen organized various activities including the October 20 Concord football concession and after game dance.

During Homecoming festivities, the freshmen worked for a week creating the third place float, "Drive 'em Under."

Red, blue, or gold stone? As in other years this was one of the big conversational topics of the sophomores. After deciding on their class ring color and style, they placed their orders and began waiting for the day of arrival.

In their second year at Liberty, the sophomores again proved their spirit by winning the Spirit Jug at the September 15 rally. Their enthusiasm helped boost the Lions to a gridiron victory over the Concord Minutemen. Working together they organized their Sophomore Hop, held January 27.

Joining in with the activities and advising them on their problems was the team of Mr. Kenneth Forlow and Mrs. Barbara Glenn.

Selecting class ring styles are sophomore officers Pat DeVall, treasurer, Tena Austin, representative, Pam Collins, secretary, Jeanette Novarina, vice-president, and Sylvia Ramirez, president.

Juniors Place Second In Garden Exhibit

Juniors

Working during summer vacation, Juniors won one hundred twenty-five dollars at the County Fair garden exhibits.

Advising them during their sale of stationery and spirit candy, along with other class activities, were Mr. Robert Glenn and Mrs. Dorothy Gromm.

"Shades of Oriental Blue" was the theme of their Prom; work started early in November. By March the activity center had been transformed into an Oriental paradise which included Siamese cats and an Oriental fountain.

For some high school graduates, choosing a college is difficult. Juniors, Nancy Duke, Nancy Mune, and Pam Rozenski, study college bulletins available to them in the counseling office.

A Final Year Of Studies And Activities

Seniors

Entering the halls of learning for a fourth year, the graduating class of '68 found themselves retracing their steps for the last time. Perhaps this was why every event seemed so special.

Tension of the week before the Homecoming Parade rose to a peak as "Happiness is No Swett" grew into an award-winning float.

With the help and guidance of the advisers, Mrs. Mary Jane Barnes and Mr. John Yancey, much work went into such money-making activities as coke sales, dances, the November magazine sale, and the mid-December Christmas Capers dance. From such activities came the profits which made the high lights of the year possible—the Senior Ball at the Hotel Claremont on May 18 and the senior breakfast and picnic.

For the class of '68, graduation on June 14 meant the end of the final year that had come. What lay ahead, no one could be sure. But the experiences and memories of the four years at Liberty would be remembered for a life time.

LION Awards: All-American, Medalist

Over 20,000 high schools published yearbooks in the nation last year. The LION was one of only three dozen to have won not only "All-American" title in the forty-seventh judging of the National Scholastic Press Association but also "Medalist" in the thirty-third judging of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

Although very proud of the honors awarded the 1967 LION, this year's staff believed that it must not remain static, but rather it must go forward. With this in mind, it was a year of change and growth for the LION yearbook.

Important changes were made this year to improve the LION. Additional pages were added to the organization section to allow the clubs with very large memberships to be divided into several groups for their club pictures. To improve the class section, underclass pictures were made slightly larger. More candids were added and photographs throughout the book were cropped closer to the action. Headbands were added, and a new and unusual theme was developed.

In addition, type was used with more freedom and the use of color was more extensive. Lastly, the 192 pages (the largest LION ever published) were utilized to better tell the story of this year's life at Liberty.

People Who Help Light Staff's Way

Thank you; two short words, but said with all sincerity to those who have done so much to make this yearbook a success. It is without exaggeration that the staff would not merely have had a difficult time in producing the 1968 LION, but it would have been an impossibility without the help and cooperation of so many:

Administration and Faculty for being so understanding and cooperative in granting those last minute requests;

American Yearbook Company for the printing of the 1968 LION yearbook;

Brentwood News and Oakland Tribune for those few special photographs they provided;

William Jacobs for his irreplaceable help in the actual production of this yearbook;

Language Arts Department Members, Mrs. Mary Jane Barnes, Mr. Oliver Bascom, Mr. Richard Hackett, Miss Ethel Van Tassel, and Mr. John Yancey for help in proof-reading;

Hal Matson Studios for producing many of this book's fine photographs;

William R. Stephenson for his help with the organization of this yearbook;

William F. Peters, Adviser, to whom we owe a special "thanks" for everything, because without him we never would have made it; 1968 Staff for their dedication and time during this year, especially when it got "rough".

There it is, without the elaborate language, the biggest thank you possible.

Cropping photographs close to the action is an important part of creating an exciting yearbook. LION staff members, Rhonda Salvador and Leticia Borrayo use the scaleograph in order to achieve perfection in cropping the pictures for the activities section.

Liberty Continues To Light Our Way

When we have walked through Liberty's doorways
 For the final time
 We will have taken with us a legacy
 Of knowledge.
 Whatever paths are then taken
 To college, work, marriage, or Even to the rice paddies of Viet Nam,
 The multitude of experiences
 We will have had at Liberty
 Will continue to LIGHT OUR WAY.
